droughts, the farm labourer and the farmer with small land-holding are looking towards bigger towns especially in Andhra Pradesh;

(b) if so, the reasons therefor;

(c) whether Government had prepared any data in this regard for each State/UT;

(d) if so, the records available with Government in this regard; and

(e) the steps being taken by Government to curb such a large scale migration to bigger towns?

THE MINISTER OF LABOUR AND EMPLOYMENT (SHRI K. CHANDRASEKHAR RAO): (a) to (e) Government are aware that people move from one State to another including Andhra Pradesh for various reasons like absence of employment opportunities in their home State, famine/droughts, in search of better avenues of employment, business etc. As per census 2001, 314.54 million persons moved for various reasons within the country. Out of these, 29.90 million migrated for reasons of employment. Data regarding farm labourer and farmer moving from one State to another due to droughts are not maintained at central level. However, in order to generate better employment opportunities at State level, the Government have launched a number of schemes like Swarnjayanti Gram Swarozgar Yojana (SGSY), Pradhan Mantri Gram Sadak Yojana (PMGSY), Sampoorna Gramin Rozgar Yojana (SGRY), National Food For Work Programme (NFFWP), Indira Awas Yojana (IAY), Integrated Wastelands Development Programme (IWDP), Drought Prone Areas Programme (DPAP), Desert Development Programme (DDP), etc. Further, the Government have recently enacted the National Rural Employment Guarantee Act to provide 100 days guaranteed employment to the rural household.
